Vision

As a humanitarian organization, we aim to provide value and promote volunteerism, besides help to the poor and needy.

Mission

From immediate help to rehabilitation to sustainability we strive to be of assistance to those in need and trying life's situations.

Core Values

On these three premises:

1. Galatians 6:10 “Therefore, as we have opportunity, let us do good to all, especially to those who are of the household of faith”
2. Our neighbours
3. Our community

Dear friends and supporters,

Being engaged in humanitarian aid work gives us much insight, experiences but also the realization of how challenging such projects can be. We therefore are humbly proud and deeply thankful for your trust, shown in your support.

Natural catastrophes are so powerful and have a disastrous effect. However my observation in the field is also that the power of re-generation in nature is much stronger. Man, creatures and even plants, are created to survive by fighting for life. It is a noble undertaking to help where one cannot do so himself or reach out a helping hand to someone's personal effort.

In our drive to relief suffering and re-build communities we have come together with many like-minded people, solidarity especially in the Christian communities is indeed not just an empty word, showing there is much more which unites, than divides among the Churches. Yet also the generosity by corporations showing us their social responsibility has impressed us and made us very thankful.

A special "Thank You" goes out to our partners, the various Charity organization of the New Apostolic Church. Without their resources we just could not do as much as needed. Yet every USD, EUR or CHF from fundraising events, from youth groups and individuals all over the world have made a difference. Especially heart-warming was the charity and solidarity experienced within our own area of South East Asia. I truly feel humbled to serve such a noble cause.

May I also acknowledge the work of my staff, the people behind NACSEARelief but also volunteers. Their untiring efforts, sacrifice of many hours of extra time, their fearless and courageous attitude are truly a donation in itself. Some give money, some themselves. Nothing is in vain, when done with love and honesty.

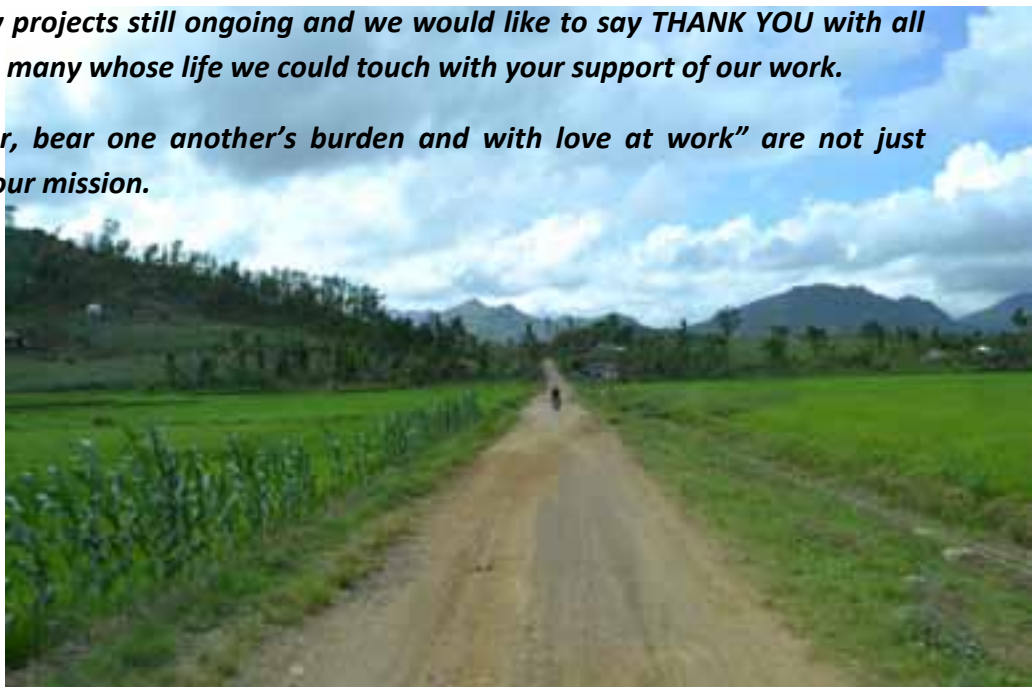

The work is not finished, many projects still ongoing and we would like to say THANK YOU with all our heart, also on behalf of the many whose life we could touch with your support of our work.

"To do good to your neighbor, bear one another's burden and with love at work" are not just quotations from sermons, but our mission.

Thank you and God bless you

Yours truly

Urs Hebeisen

It is the year of resilience for one of our Apostles. On May 5, 2013 on his way home from a congregation visit, our Apostle Mercurio Nuyad met an accident. He was riding his motorcycle from T'Boli Congregation going home to Tupi.

According to Ap. Nuyad, he didn't know exactly what happened. He vaguely remembers the accident, and all he can remember now are the voices of the two strangers who helped him get up. "Are you alright? We still have to travel far, can you manage?" These are the words the strangers told him. When the Apostle said he can still drive, the two strangers helped him to get on his bike, put all his belongings in his bag and bid him goodbye near Polomolok. The Apostle then continued to drive and ended up in San Pedro, General Santos, the location of the previous New Apostolic church. When he could not find the church, he said he just drove and ended up in NAC Falgui (Gen. San). Upon his arrival, Bishop Pascual and his wife discovered the extent of the Apostle's accident. His face was full of blood and his arm was completely swollen. The Apostle was driving with the injury on his face and arm but didn't stop until he reached NAC General Santos.

At the hospital, it was found that his left cheekbone was broken and his left eye was affected. Operation was made and now Apostle Nuyad continues to recover from the accident.

"I am very thankful to our Heavenly Father for sending the two strangers to me." – Ap. Nuyad

Below is the map of Ap. Nuyad's path.

From medicine assistance to hospitalization assistance, NACSEA Relief was able to extend to our brothers and sisters.

Sickness doesn't choose young or old, thus our medicine assistance ranges from children pneumonia to insulin assistance.

This year, we also launched a medicine package composed of basic medicines for fever and cough.

This is to have ready medicines in case of need especially those who are in the mountainous areas and are not able to buy basic medicines.

Last April 2, 2014 was an important and memorable event of my life, my graduation day. Memorable event because I have received my Diploma as a proof that I have satisfactorily completed the requirements of the Degree, Bachelor of Science in Secondary Education, major in Biological Science. I was very happy, my parents and relatives were very proud of me. The four long years of struggles and sacrifices at last have come to its end.

This success of mine is not possible without those big hearted people who are willing to help and contribute for my studies. We all know that college life is very difficult, based on my experience there were times that I was not able to take examination because I failed to pay my accounts. I reached third year in college with that condition and situation until opportunity came. It was summer vacation when I learned from Bishop Muda that our church offers a scholarship for those less privileged New Apostolic students like me. I immediately applied and with God's help the NACSEA Relief, an aid organization of the New Apostolic Church of Southeast Asia responded positively.

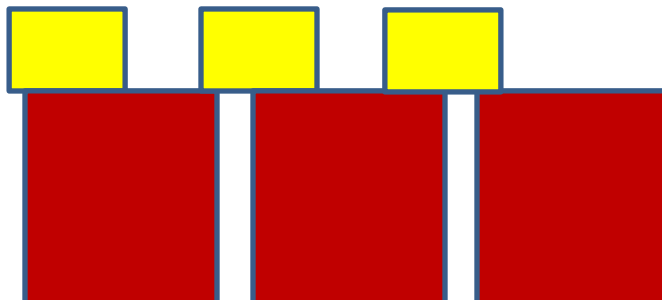

I am proud to say that I am a scholar of NAC. During my 4th year I did not experience difficulties in paying my school fees because NACSEA Relief already sent a check for my tuition fees.

I can't wait to say THANK YOU first of all to our Almighty Father for using these people as instrument to lend a hand to others. To the New Apostolic Church Southeast Asia Administration from the bottom of my heart thank you so much and I hope that you will continue helping others under NACSEA Relief organization.

Once more, from my family and relatives I extend my sincerest thanks to NACSEA Relief. MABUHAY!

Sincerely yours,

LET'S EDUCATE OUR FUTURE

Senden Home resiliently continues to care for 37 children. Within the year, 14 of the residents were re-united with their parents or relatives. One of them, who was separated from his parents for a year and seven months, was finally reunited with his grandparents in Paoay, Ilocos Norte. (see photo below)

While some are re-united and re-integrated, others have found their way to Senden. 7 new boys came this year and are now in residential care.

Though relatively small, Mindanao group of mothers resiliently continue to make beautiful hand crafted cross-stich. The group, a branch out of Makati is now growing in numbers.

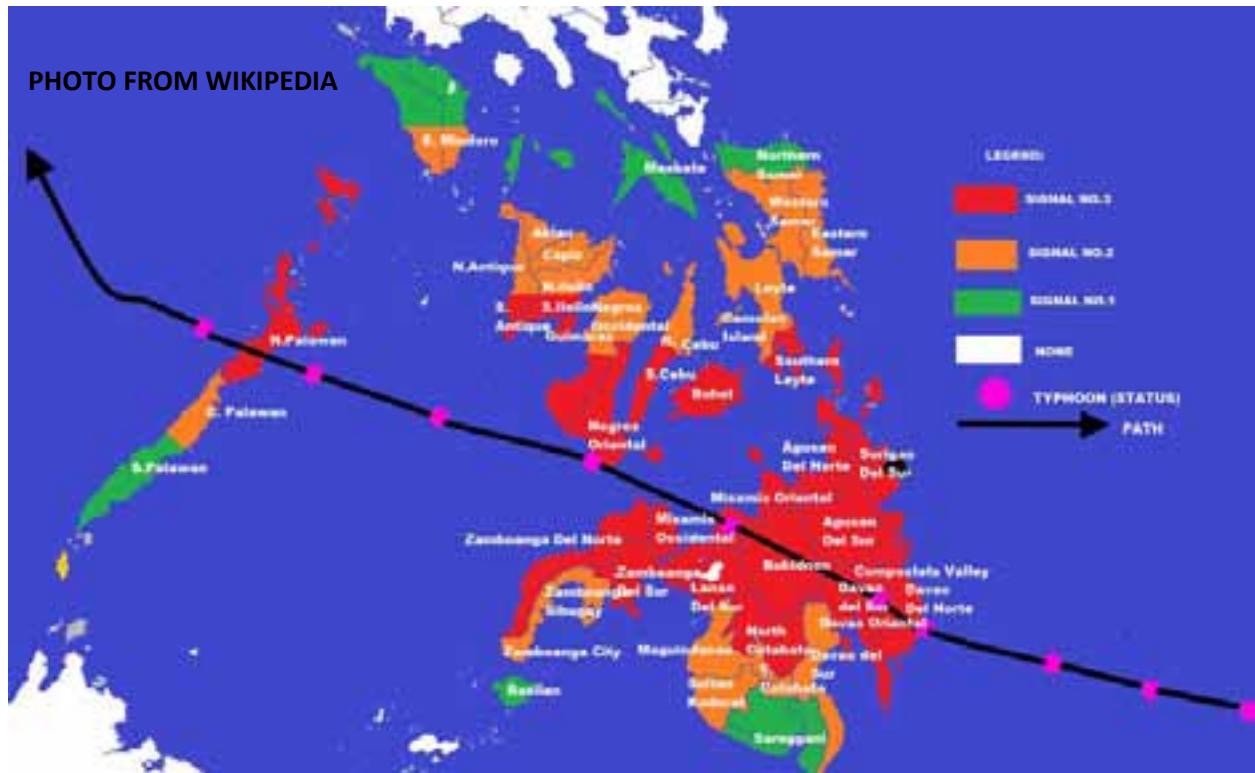

From Manila, materials are sent via LBC, a local courier service. Initially the struggle was sending the needles and scissors especially made making these crafts. It could be resolved. Then came the process of quality control. As the ladies are very far from Manila, quality control could only be made once it has arrived. If something has to be changed, painstakingly the craft has to be re-done and re-stitched.

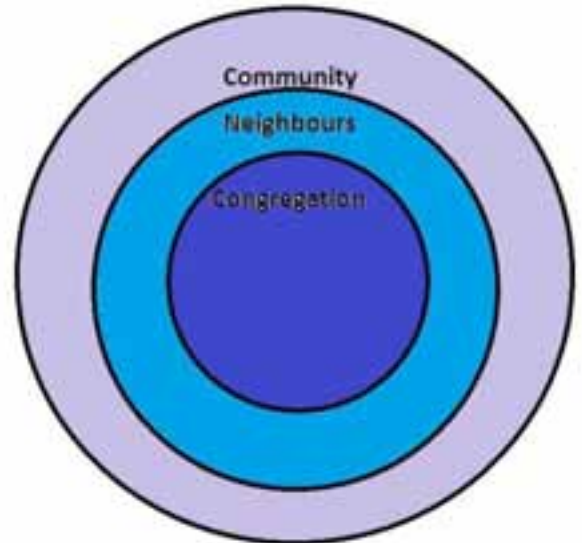

Sharing the joy!

Typhoon Bopha

- Typhoon Bopha, the strongest cyclone to hit Mindanao
- Local name: Pablo
- The typhoon has affected more than 213,000 people, demolished houses and stranded people in two Mindanao regions and parts of the Visayas region, according to the disaster agency.

Maslow's Hierarchy of needs

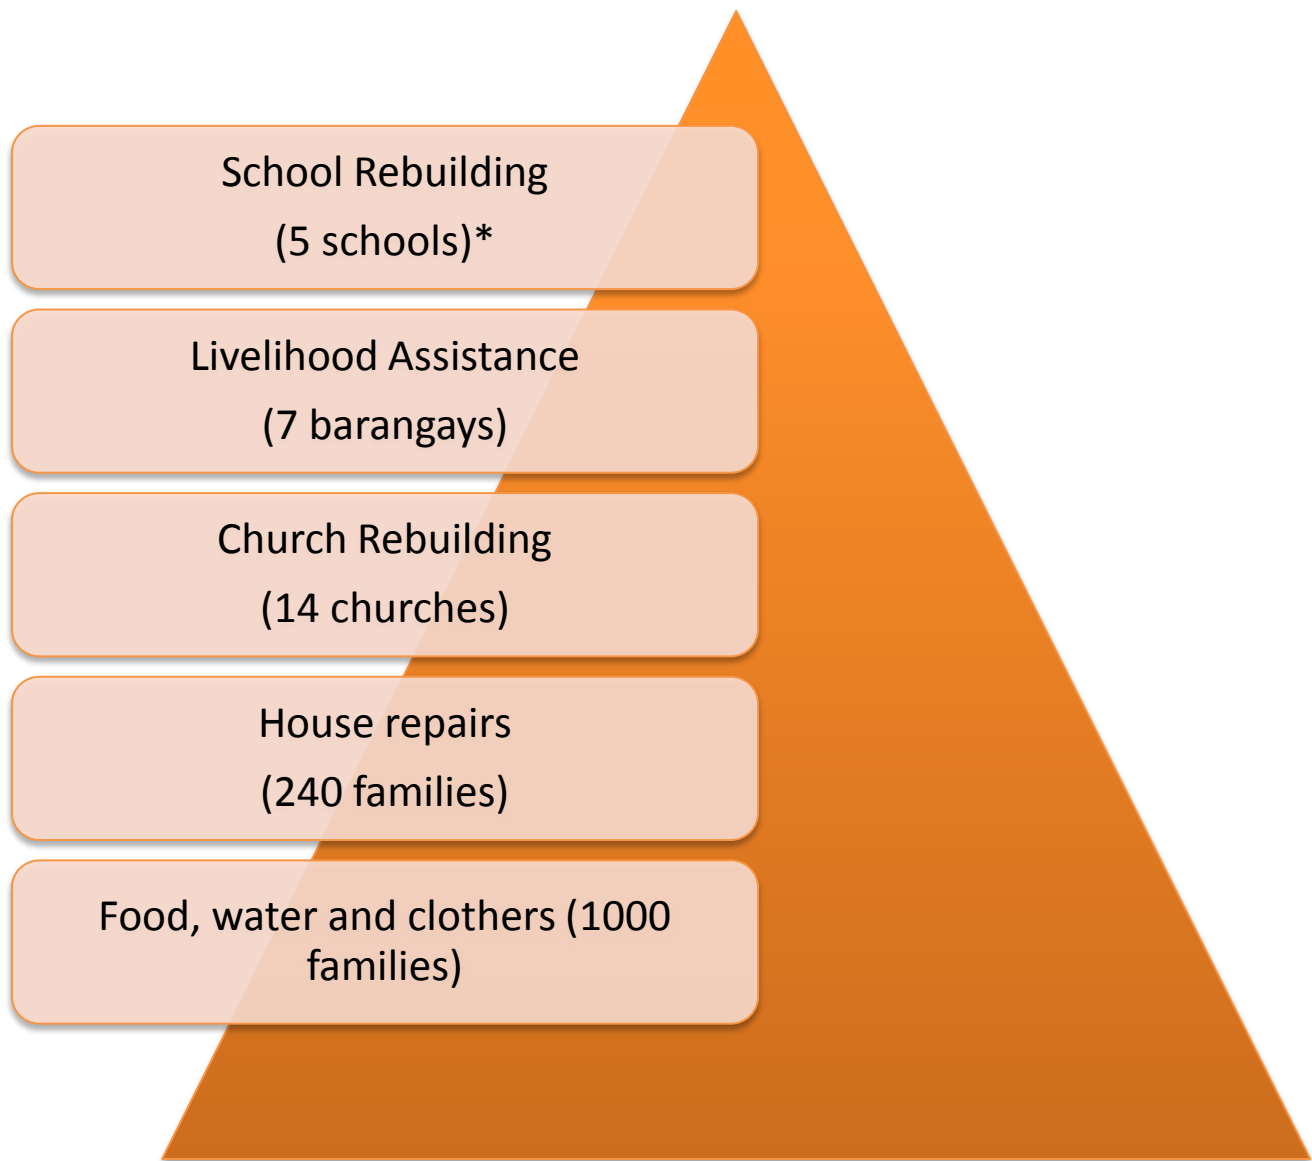

December 2012 when Typhoon Bopha hit Mindanao.

Immediately, we sent our Disaster Response headed by Pr. Cris Ronquillo and met up with our local ministers headed by Ap. Nuyad and D.Ev. Freddie Nuyad.

Ev. Sofonias was at that time in Mamonga and building the church. He said, they just run because of the landslide scare.

After the storm they walked back to Tagum from Compostela Valley.

General response was, we were the first to reach far remote areas and brought immediate relief.

Note:* 2 schools are finished/3 schools on going.

Bohol Earthquake

- The 2013 Bohol earthquake occurred on October 15, 2013, at 8:12 a.m. (PST) in Bohol, an island province located in Central Visayas, Philippines. The magnitude of the earthquake at the epicentre was recorded at Mw 7.2, located 6 kilometres (3.7 mi) SW of Sagbayan town, at a depth of 12 kilometres (7.5 mi). It affected the whole Central Visayas region, particularly Bohol and Cebu. The quake was felt in the whole Visayas area and as far as Masbate Island in the north and Cotabato provinces in southern Mindanao.
- It was the deadliest earthquake in the Philippines in 23 years.

Re-building of churches and houses are still on-going.

Re-construction is slow due to aftershocks and final clearance from government Geological Services is needed.

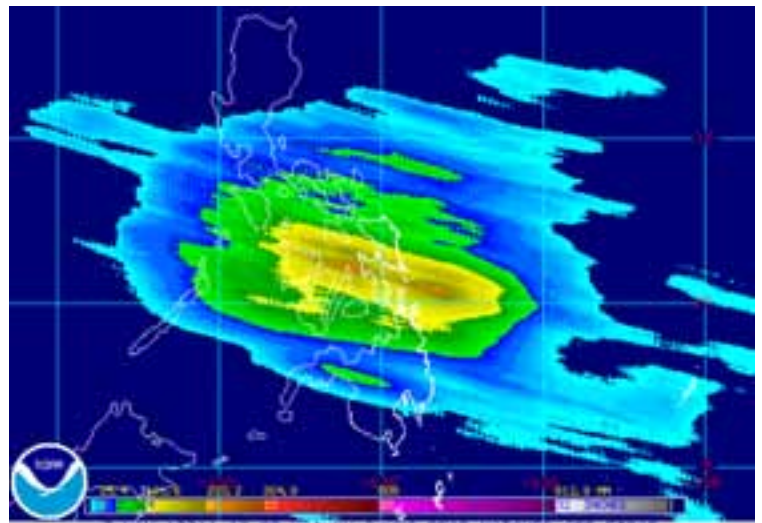

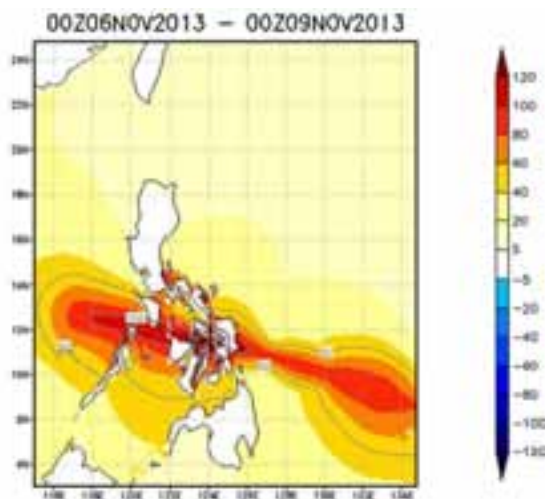

Typhoon Haiyan Primer

- On November 8, 2013 Typhoon Haiyan, code name Yolanda hit Philippines,
- It is the strongest typhoon recorded which devastated portions of Southeast Asia, particularly the Philippines.
- Killed at least 6,268 people in the Philippines alone.
- Haiyan is also the strongest storm recorded at landfall, and unofficially the strongest typhoon ever recorded in terms of wind speed
- As of January 2014, bodies were still being found

(Source: Wikipedia)

The combination of storm surge, violent winds and torrential rains results to Typhoon Haiyan's catastrophic effect.

When Typhoon Haiyan hit landfall, everyone on its path was affected, young and old.

Rebuilding report covering first quarter 2014 follows.
